FAMILY STRESS DURING THE HOLIDAYS

James Svensson, LMSW

James is currently a Senior Social Worker at Michigan Medicine at the Rachel Upjohn Depression Center. James is on the Psychosis Risk Evaluation and Prevention (PREP) team. James also is a lecturer at the University of Michigan School of Social Work.

Before returning to Michigan Medicine, where he started his career, James worked for Washtenaw County Community Mental Health. He was the Supervisor of the Assertive Community Treatment team at WCCMH. While there James helped expand the program from one team to three and added services such as trauma informed treatment with a women's trauma group, Integrated Dual Diagnosis substance abuse treatment, and Family Psycho education groups. James started the first Family Psycho education Group in Michigan and was a state level trainer and supervisor in the Model.
